To whom it may concern,

I am writing to you to enquiring for any positions available within your department or even some useful direction to get a position thats related to my studies.

I am currently enrolled at Edith Cowan University doing a degree in Bachelor of Paramedical Science. However I am very keen to work as a paramedic officer after my studies but to improve my career and develop it for that position I require some experience in the industry of health or paramedics. Any type of work that's related to health or paramedics would be my ideal position to get into before I have gained my degree so that I can use my knowledge from work into my studies towards developing my career.

I posses outstanding communication skills and great work ethic skills. I'm also a friendly outgoing individual that gets along with everyone and loves been involved in a friendly team environment. I have almost 7 years worth of overall experience working and providing customer support and service in many roles and aspects. Such as by working at Coles dealing with costumers everyday and providing support to working at Crown Perth where it's full on with costumers that range from different cultural background, different emotional behavior and also actions from each person.

I would be happy to consider any opportunity within the department that will assist me in gaining more required skills, knowledge, experience and the overall better understanding to help me develop while I'm studying.

I have attached my Resume and I would appreciate the opportunity to discuss any position or useful information/tip you may have to offer me to pursue a better career for myself.

Kind Regards Shannon J. Chambers
